Holmesglen continues to grow

Holmesglen is continuing to expand its facilities with the planning and commencement of impressive building works at all three campuses.

Waverley
Over the summer, the Waverley campus has undergone works to expand the learning commons (or library), offering students additional access to computers and meeting rooms.

The student training restaurant, Zest, is also undergoing major renovations and will be closed until May this year. The finished result will increase the 50 seat restaurant to 80 seats.

The Waverley campus is also receiving a new three level building, which will be open to students in second semester 2011. The new building will provide facilities for the Early Childhood Education department including operational childhood development rooms for simulated learning in a crèche environment, with outdoor play area. The building will also include a new vocational school, to teach VET subjects to high school aged students and an underground car park.

Moorabbin
Building works have begun at the Moorabbin campus for a new nursing and health sciences building.

The building will be located in the middle of the campus and will be a five level, 5-star energy rated building with state-of-art facilities.

Construction is expected to be completed by March 2011.

Chadstone
Design is now well underway at the Chadstone campus for a six level building on Warrigal Road. The new ‘Building 6’ will be built on the site of the two ageing shops adjacent to the railway bridge, both of which will be demolished early this year.

The building will provide a new information centre for international students, two levels of office accommodation, and three levels of classrooms and computer rooms. Two examination rooms of 80-90 seat capacity will also be provided.

Construction is scheduled to start in May 2010, and expected to be completed in September 2011.
